A FRIENDLY WARNING.

Lover of fun is not unknown among the serious-looking Chinamen who have found a home in some California town.

A storekeeper, wishing to advertise his articles in the Chinese language, engaged a Celestial to paint him a sign, expecting, of course, that it would be a very enticing one. It did not answer his expectations, however, for the only perceptible effect it had on "the relatives of the sun and moon," as the Chinese term themselves, was to excite the broadest of grins.

At length, the storekeeper, by a considerable bribe, obtained a translation of the advertisement, and found it to be as follows:—"Don't buy anything here; storekeeper a rogue."

growth of centuries by throwing a fifth Ruler at them. Nothing great is likely to be accomplished by "revolutionaries" of either of these classes.Without efficient leadership and a well-defined programme no political party can hope for success. These the disaffected Chinese have not got.They are merely futile destructionists who are unable to realise that destructionis worse than inaction unless some definite policy of construction is to follow. The foreigner who really thinks that for China's own sake she should "wake up" and try to place herself more in line with her sister nations will prefer to trust to the Government which exists to bring about that which the Government's enemies.The latter are more anxious to get a square meal than to make any political advance.
